

BROUGH SUGGESTED TO HEAD COLLEGE

Senatobia Citizens Deplore Political Influences at State Institution.

SENATOBIA, Miss., June 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—A letter from the home of the late Senator Brough, suggesting that he be asked to head the college at Senatobia, has been received by the board of trustees of the college. The suggestion is being considered with interest by the board, but it is not yet known whether it will be accepted.

Whereas, the Mississippi A. and M. college is a great educational institution, which has been established for the purpose of educating the colored people of this state, and has taken high rank among the colleges of America, and

Whereas, it has become an unfortunate custom to change its president with each change of state administration, and

Whereas, we believe these frequent changes, apparently for political reasons, are a great detriment to the progress and progress of the college and state.

Therefore be it resolved by the people of Senatobia in mass meeting assembled, that they deplore the custom that has prevailed in the past, and

Second: We earnestly petition the governor and board of trustees to secure the services of a man for president of Mississippi A. and M. college whose executive ability, scholarship, personal character and administrative ability will appeal to the Alumni association of the college, the masses of the people of the state who patronize the college and pay the revenues for its support, and to the politicians of all creeds and factions.

Third: We suggest the name of a native Mississippian, Mr. Charles Brough, now governor of Arkansas, as a man who measures up to this high standard.

We believe that his services could be secured if sufficient compensation were offered with an absolute guarantee that he should have complete control in the management of the college.

Fourth: Be it further resolved that copies of these resolutions be sent to the governor and members of the board of trustees, etc.

MEMORY FEATS OF SMALL MEMPHIS BOY MYSTIFYING

BY W. R. PINE.

A remarkable case of child memory was discovered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson, 1014 Madison avenue, where the father of little Carl Thompson, not yet five years old, has already amazed all over the neighborhood.

According to his mother, the little boy has always displayed a remarkable aptitude for quick memorizing. She says that he can learn a nursery rhyme in half an hour and will then repeat it almost faultlessly.

Carl most remarkable feat is one which he does with perfect ease. He can read about 25 rolls of the yellowed paper. Carl goes to them, and reads them at random from the top one and with barely a glance at the label, calls the correct name of the piece of paper.

Carl has been selected by the school as the only child who can read the names of the pieces of paper. The thought at this time is whether the rolls were placed in a certain order. They were thoroughly mixed up. It was just the same. Not one roll was given a second chance.

Carl was asked to pick out a specific roll. He seemed to know intuitively which roll he wanted. He picked it up and read it. He seemed to know intuitively which roll he wanted. He picked it up and read it.

In order to test Carl's speed, and to see if he could read the rolls without the aid of the labels, the rolls were placed in a certain order. They were thoroughly mixed up. It was just the same. Not one roll was given a second chance.

Carl was asked to pick out a specific roll. He seemed to know intuitively which roll he wanted. He picked it up and read it. He seemed to know intuitively which roll he wanted. He picked it up and read it.

The real test that proved the wonder of power of the child was made by having him read the rolls of the rolls. He picked the first two without any hesitation, and with an accuracy that was almost perfect.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Gov. Harding, of the federal reserve board, in a statement last night declared the board was opposed to the use of "drastic" or "oppressive measures" in bringing about a reduction of long-standing loans.

The board's views were expressed in response to a letter from Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, who feared efforts of the federal reserve banks to hasten deflation might prove disastrous to them, since many of their loans must be repaid in cash.

111 Students Get Diplomas At High

Central high school Thursday night received diplomas stating that they had completed the prescribed four-year course satisfactorily. This is the largest number of students which has ever graduated from the institution at one time.

Dr. William H. Finckler made the address of the evening. He spoke of the fact that the students would probably forget what he said in an hour, but he was glad it was so, as the very spirit of adventure which would lead them to forget was the spirit that kept the world out of a rut. He compared life to the fundamental tone in music, and this spirit of adventure to the overtone, which is what makes the harmony.

The opening number of the evening's program was an overture by the high
